Aleph Class : Morah Rechama

Passover preparations are in full swing. We acted out the story of Passover. We then began to learn the steps of the Seder, which we can’t wait to share with our family.

We have begun to learn the Mah Nishtanah - the four questions. Please practice the Mah Nishtanah at home with your child.

Bet Class: Mrs. Singer

This week we continued to prepare for our own family's Seder, by finishing our own Haggadah. The class also began work on a special something, to grace the Passover table of each family. Keep practicing those four questions: remember, a very handsome prize is in store for those who know them in English or Hebrew. We continued the book of Shemot, as the Jewish nation packs their bags and leaves Egypt. The Jews then travel through the desert towards Israel.

Gimmel Class: Morah Estie

This week we learnt more about Pesach, and explored the order of the Passover Seder. We prepared for our upcoming model Seder, by learning Passover songs and working on our Haggadah!

Daled Class: Morah Chevie

The story of Passover is retold every year at the Seder night. The order in which we relive the experience, is in the Haggadah. This week, in a fun and interactive way, we made one to take home and use for the Seder night.

Hey Class: Morah Mushkie

Class Hey learnt more about

Pesach today! We also made Seder plates, and had so much fun practicing the Mah Nishtanah. We can't wait to use our Seder plates, and sing the Mah Nishatnah on Pesach!

Vav and Zayin Class: Morah Dassie and Morah Chaya

"We also reviewed the Hebrew terms we were taught last week, in connection with Pesach. Then we placed the foods on the Seder plate, and discussed why we eat each one. Of course, the best part was making our very own maror and charoset."

We left off last week in middle of the Passover tale - where Moses, in his youth, was in trouble with the Pharaoh and had to runaway. This week we continued with Moses marrying, becoming a Sheppard, and being given the job of leading the Jews out of Egypt. We were fascinated with many new details we have never heard before.

We also reviewed the Hebrew terms we were taught last week, in connection with Pesach. Then we placed the foods on the Seder plate, and discussed why we eat each one. Of course, the best part was making our very own maror and charoset.

Ches Class: Morah Rosie

After a beautiful davening, we continued working on our Passover Haggadah, We learnt about the significance of the Seder plate, and we went through all of the fifteen steps of the Seder. We decorated our own matza covers, and ended our day with choosing our parts for the Model Seder coming up. See you next week!

Tet Class: Rabbi Prus

This week the students continued on their Haggadah for Dummies. We researched in a real Haggadah the important terms for each step of the Seder, instructions how to perform each step correctly, and the necessary blessings.
